

Sustainability Policy/Master Policy/Business principles

EP Power Europe, a.s. ("EPPE")

Statement of intent: This document sets out a comprehensive policy framework for the EPPE Group as well as defining the core principles for sustainability related policies within the EPPE Group and its core subsidiary companies.

Having set these overriding principles this document contains the basic guidelines for sustainability governance which are at minimum followed by the EPPE Group.

Specific policies and tailored guidance relating to these policies have been introduced and will be shown as addendums to the Master Policy.

Scope: EP Power Europe (EPPE) is a unique energy utility, focusing mainly on the power generation from conventional and renewable sources. In addition, the company is also active in coal mining, logistics and commodity trading. EPPE operates on eight European markets – Germany, Slovakia, Italy, Switzerland, the United Kingdom, the Republic of Ireland, the Czech Republic and France with balanced portfolio of nuclear, hydro, coal, solar, wind, natural gas and biomass fuelled power plants.

EPPE is conscious of its important economic, social and environmental impact. Along with proven business results, EPPE strives to respond to its key stakeholders' priorities facing main challenges by providing the highest quality in its operations.

The EPPE Group is committed to sustainable development, the core principles of which are to develop shared value, over the long term, with the communities in which it operates, within the environment in which it operates and creating value within the economies in which it operates while maintaining economic feasibility of the EPPE Group's businesses.

The EPPE Group is pleased to be able to demonstrate its commitment to sustainability within its annual Sustainability report which provides greater details on the performance and initiatives of the group.

Principles

1. Environment

EPPE and its subsidiaries understand the impact of their entire portfolio on the environment. Following the basic principles of responsible behaviour ensures that its business activities minimise the environmental impact of its operations and contribute to sustainable development.

1. Environmental protection. EPPE takes a preventive approach to reduce the environmental impact of its operations and manage the associated risks following all appropriate legal and regulatory frameworks.
2. Climate change. EPPE prioritises the maximum resource and operational efficiency to mitigate the causes of climate change, exploring the alternative use and production of energy when possible while taking into account that stable energy supply is a must for society.
3. Quality standards. EPPE and its subsidiaries ensure the implementation and monitoring of the appropriate environmental standards and certifications (if required by law) relevant to their operations in the territories in which they manage their assets.
4. Sustainable operations and products. EPPE considers innovation as one of the key pillars for business development, searching for more sustainable solutions and products at the operational and technical level.
5. Resources efficiency. EPPE is committed to using all energy resources needed for its services' operations economically and efficiently, aiming for the highest sustainability standards in our present operations, reducing the waste generated, monitoring all resources usage and placing appropriate programs to improve their efficiency.
6. Environmental education. EPPE recognises the importance of providing environmental education and training to its key stakeholders through awareness-raising projects, energy efficiency programs and by promoting renewable and clean energy solutions where appropriate.

2. Society

EPPE and its subsidiaries understand the impact of their business operations in society. Following the basic principles of responsible behaviour ensures that its business activities positively contribute to the community and sustainable development.

- 1. Value creation. EPPE strives to bring value to the geographical areas where it operates by developing business models that contribute to local social development and improve people's quality of life.
- 2. Human rights. EPPE follows the 10 principles of the United Nations Global Compact on Human Rights, labour, environment and anticorruption and encourages its business partners to endorse the same commitment. (*Appendix)
- 3. Economic and social development. EPPE's operations recognise the importance of contributing to the economic and social development of local communities.
- 4. Access to basic services. EPPE understands the basic need for energy supply to its customers, ensuring affordable (subject to relevant regulation), reliable and quality supply.
- 5. Stakeholders' dialogue. EPPE seriously considers the needs of employees, customers, government and regulators, investors and lenders, suppliers, labour and trade unions, NGOs and local communities, when making business decisions in order to know and meet their expectations when feasible.
- 6. Sustainable development principles. EPPE promotes sustainable development principles through its internal and external communication channels and encourages employees, business partners and suppliers to spread them as well.
- 7. Equal opportunities. EPPE's fundamental strength relies on equal opportunities, non-discrimination and diversity principles, striving to provide work-life balance and training courses to ensure professional and personal growth.
- 8. Transparent communication and accountability. EPPE and its subsidiaries provide their stakeholders with transparent, truthful and accurate information, further detailed in our reports and publicly available sources.
- 9. Health and safety. EPPE ensures that all working facilities and assets are fully covered at the minimum by the quality standards given by the respective laws and regulations, and where feasible permanently monitors the safety and health of employees, business partners and the communities surrounding it.

3. Governance

EPPE and its subsidiaries understand the impact of their business operations in the economic value creation. Following the basic principles of responsible behaviour ensures that its business activities positively contribute to the economy and sustainable growth.

- 1. Ethics. EPPE promotes transparency, integrity and business ethics, as defined in the specific corporate policies, at all company levels and throughout the EPPE supply chain.
- 2. Sustainable economy. EPPE strives to maintain economic and financial stability by developing sustainable business models and setting long-term business strategies and goals in line with social and environmental goals.

- 3. Risk management. EPPE encourages the inclusion of results from risk and opportunity analyses and assessments when drawing up strategies and making decisions.
- 4. Progress on goals and commitments. EPPE constantly monitors progress on meeting its goals and improving targets (if feasible), ensuring the relevant standards and including the inputs in the decision-making process.
- 5. Responsible finance. EPPE requires that all of its business relationships with third parties be conducted with honesty, integrity, ethical behaviour and transparency.
- 6. Responsible funding. EPPE requires its funding to be managed in a transparent way, ensuring that it does not support any illegal and unethical action or organisation, keeping sustainability premises.
- 7. Management. EPPE's sustainability goals and strategy are driven and spearheaded by the company's top-level management, ensuring that it is imbedded at every level of the company and business areas.
- 8. Regulatory compliance. EPPE and its subsidiaries always act in accordance with the current local legislation and company's corporate appropriate policies and cooperate with local regulators.
